

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

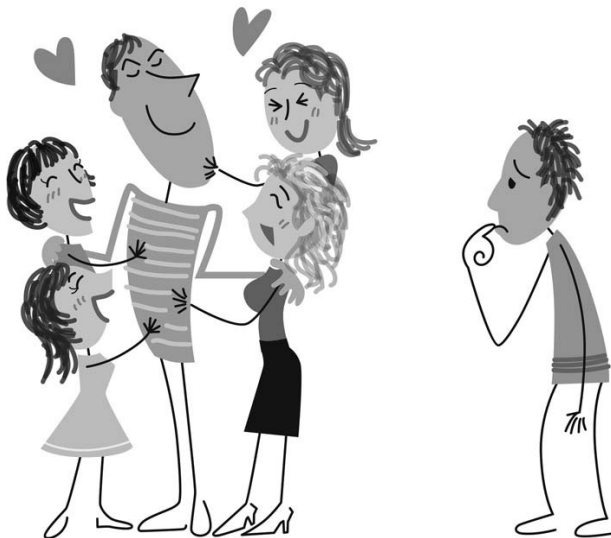

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Feeling jealous of other people.

Learning Outcome

Describe emotions and feelings in present and past situations in spoken or written texts and in work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- Have you ever felt jealous of your friends? Why?
- How do you get a hold of yourself?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about beliefs, opinions, relationships or character traits.
- I can contrast the main idea of a statement using words like although.
- I can express annoyance about an action or an event in the present.

Let's Explore!

That movie was amazing. In fact, it was beyond belief.

* "Beyond belief" means something is unbelievable or outside of the realm of imagination.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Vanessa: You are going back to Lesotho?
Amy: Yeah. She had someone back out, so Candice asked me to go over with her. Although we have built a lot of momentum through fundraising, people still need to go over and make sure the money is properly put to use. We've made large strides, yet we haven't even scratched the surface yet.
- Vanessa: So you will be a project manager?
Amy: More like an assistant. Despite my knowledge of the situation, Candice still has much more experience.
- Peter: So this was the news you were going to tell me?
Amy: Aww! Don't worry, Peter. I'll be gone, but not for very long.
Peter: How long?
Amy: Two weeks.
Peter: Do you have to go?
Amy: Haha. You're adorable. I need to take this. Excuse me.
Peter: That is beyond belief! She can be so selfish sometimes.
Vanessa: What? What are you talking about?
Peter: I mean she could have told me about this earlier. Would that be asking too much? She might let me know when she's going to fly to Africa for a week!
- Vanessa: Ok, Peter. You need to calm down. You know she is involved in charitable organizations, yet you're acting bewildered.
- Peter: Yeah, but does she have to do this now? Must she fly off to another continent when things between us are just getting good?
- Vanessa: Well, maybe you should talk about this.
Peter: She'll just overlook everything I say and do what she wants anyway.
Vanessa: I agree with you that she should have told you first. However, the way you are acting right now gives me pause. I've never seen you this controlling before.
- Peter: Yeah. Well, you would take her side.
Vanessa: I'm not willing to discuss this any further. You need to get a hold of yourself and then you guys can talk about it later.

Let's Practice!

Amy has made large strides* volunteering.

*To "make large strides" means to come a long way in something.

Instructions: Circle the correct answer. Read the correct sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

1. I mean she could have told me about this earlier. _____ that be asking too much? Could / Wouldn't / Would
2. She _____ let me know when she's going to fly to Africa for a week! might / would / wouldn't
3. Yeah, but does she _____ to do this now? have / has / had
4. _____ she fly off to another continent when things between us are just getting good? Might / Must / Mustn't
5. Well, you _____ take her side. would / might / might not
6. She _____ be so selfish sometimes. can / must / may

Let's Practice!

Amy explains her travel plans.

Instructions: Match the two halves to correctly complete the sentences. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

- | | |
|--|--|
| 1. Although we have built a lot of momentum | a. through fundraising, people still need to go over and make sure the money is properly put to use. |
| 2. We've made large strides, | b. yet you're acting bewildered. |
| 3. Despite my knowledge of the situation, | c. yet we haven't even scratched the surface yet. |
| 4. I'll be gone, | d. Candice still has much more experience. |
| 5. You know she is involved in charitable organizations, | e. but not for very long. |

Extension Activity

Present two quotations about jealous friends.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- With a partner, research the term jealous friends on the Internet.
- Find two quotes about jealous friends that you like.
- Understand the meanings of the quotes and be able to explain them.
- Make a poster with your quotes.
- Decorate your poster with images that may help your classmates better understand your quotations message.
- Present your poster to your classmates.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I research the term jealous friends.

☐ ☐

I collaborate with a partner and select two quotations about jealous friends.

☐ ☐

I learn the meaning of my quotation and am able to explain it to others clearly.

☐ ☐

I make a poster with the quote that helps to make the quotation easier to understand.

☐ ☐

I present my poster to my classmates.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- momentum (noun): the force that keeps an object moving or keeps an event developing after it has started e.g. Although we have built a lot of momentum through fundraising, people still need to go over and make sure the money is properly put to use.
- project manager (noun): a person with the responsibility of the planning, procurement and execution of a project
e.g. So you will be a project manager?
- adorable (adjective): inspiring great affection; delightful; charming e.g. They are an adorable couple.
- selfish (adjective): lacking consideration for others; concerned chiefly with one's own personal profit or pleasure e.g. She can be so selfish sometimes.
- bewildered (adjective): perplexed and confused
e.g. I was completely bewildered by the question.
- to get a hold of yourself (expression): to control one's emotions
e.g. You need to get a hold of yourself and then you guys can talk about it later.

Learning Points

Word Order in Concession/ Contrast Clauses

You use concession or contrast clauses to express an idea that suggests the opposite of the main part of the sentence. They are useful in both writing and speaking since they make your language more dynamic and diverse.

Concession clauses have an initial and final position, in other words, before or after the main clause.

Here are the two structures you can use:

conjunction + subject + verb ... , subject + main verb

Example:

Although we have built a lot of momentum through fundraising, people still need to go over and make sure the money is properly put to use.

or subject + main verb ... conjunction + subject + verb

Example:

People still need to go over and make sure the money is properly put to use although we have built a lot of momentum through fundraising.

You can express contrast with however.

For example: I agree with you that she should have told you first. However, the way you are acting right now gives me pause.

You can also express contrast with the coordinating conjunction yet.

For example:

You know she is involved in charitable organizations, yet you are acting bewildered.

Examples:

- Although we have built a lot of momentum through fundraising, people still need to go over and make sure the money is properly put to use.
- We've made large strides, yet we haven't even scratched the surface yet.
- Despite my knowledge of the situation, Candice still has much more experience.
- I'll be gone, but not for very long.
- You know she is involved in charitable organizations, yet you're acting bewildered.

Learning Points

Modals to Express Annoyance in the Present

You can use modal verbs to express annoyance in the present.

Take a look at the chart to learn how to use modal verbs in order to express annoyance in the present:

Modal	Use/Meaning	Example
can	to express annoyance	That is beyond belief! She can be so selfish sometimes. could	to express annoyance when someone doesn't do something	I mean she could have told me about this earlier. might	to express annoyance when someone doesn't do something	She might let me know when she's going to fly to Africa for a week! have to/must	used in questions	Yeah, but does she have to do this now? would	to express annoyance	Would that be asking too much?

Examples:

- She can be so selfish sometimes.
- I mean she could have told me about this earlier. Would that be asking too much?
- She might let me know when she's going to fly to Africa for a week!
- Yeah, but does she have to do this now?
- Must she fly off to another continent when things between us are just getting good?
- Well, you would take her side.

