

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

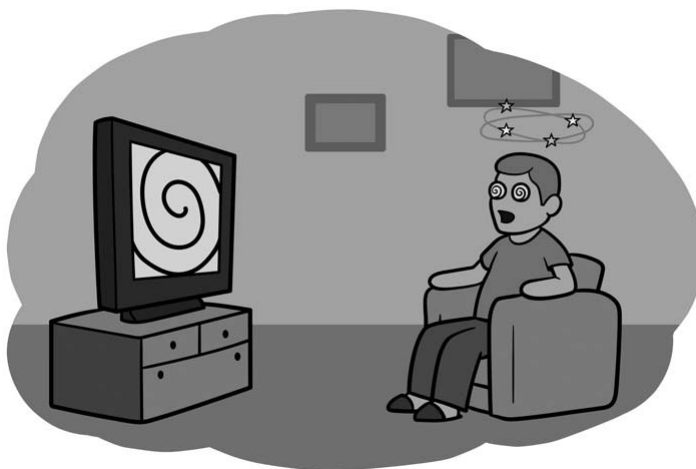

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

My life is like reality TV!

Learning Outcome

Exchange information about unlikely events or fairly certain conditions that will be fulfilled in present, past or future in spoken or written texts and in work and social contexts.

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about beliefs, opinions, relationships or character traits.
- I can express uncertainty about past events.
- I can express comparison between two things or events.

Ask your partner:

- What do you think about reality shows on TV?
- Why do you think some people like reality shows on TV?

Let's Explore!

Their lives are like a reality show.

* A "reality show" is a television series where members of the public or celebrities are filmed living their everyday lives or undertaking specific challenges.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Peter: Hey, Vanessa. Come in.

Vanessa: My informers told me you had a busy evening last night.

Peter: You talked to Sally?

Vanessa: I told you that you shouldn't have been so controlling. You must not have heard a word I said yesterday. You could have just let it go, but noooooooo! You had to be an apprehensive little boy who got his feelings hurt. Ughh! She is the best thing that you've ever had. You ought to have listened to me. You can't have messed this up!

Peter: I don't know if we're broken up or not. I don't think so. She said she was going to call me today and that we'd talk some more.

Vanessa: Good. One important difference between Amy and other people is that Amy is very rational and level-headed, thus she is more than willing to let cooler heads prevail. Unlike some people I know. Anyway, you weren't the only one who had an eventful evening.

Peter: Oh. What happened to you?

Vanessa: You know my boss, Bill. Well, he asked me to go to the Maldives all expenses paid.

Peter: Really? Wow! That escalated quickly. In contrast to me, Bill moves rather fast. But, isn't this a form of workplace harassment? Couldn't you sue him for all he's worth?

Vanessa: No, the important difference is that we would be going together as friends.

Peter: Yeah, right. You call me naive, but I wouldn't have bought that line. I would have told him to get lost.

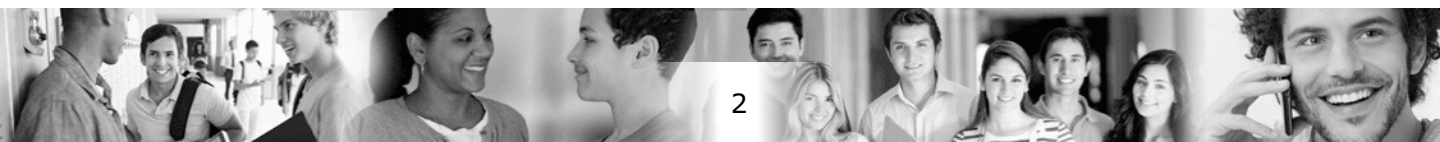

Vanessa: Well, our opinion of Bill differs greatly.

Peter: You aren't actually considering this, are you?

Vanessa: I don't know. I might be. At any rate, you need to take care of Amy and I'll figure out what I'm going to do.

Peter: We are worse than reality TV.

Vanessa: Bye.

Let's Practice!

Vanessa and Peter deliberate.

Instructions: Read the definitions. Match each sentence with its corresponding response. Write the number in front of each response.

- | | |
|---|---------------------------------|
| 1) To take a break from a frustrating situation. | a) ___ level-headed |
| 2) Who report on the activities of other, especially to authorities | b) ___ let cooler heads prevail |
| 3) Anxious that something bad will happen. | c) ___ harassment |
| 4) Aggressive pressure or intimidation | d) ___ informers |
| 5) To become more intense | e) ___ to escalate |
| 6) Calm and sensible | f) ___ apprehensive |

Let's Practice!

Talking about contrast.

Instructions: Read the sentences. Complete the gaps with the correct option from the Word Bank.

- 1) _____ some people I know.
- 2) _____ to me, Bill moves rather fast. But, isn't this a form of workplace harassment?
- 3) The important _____ is that we would be going together as friends.
- 4) Our opinion of Bill _____ greatly.

Word Bank

Difference / Unlike / In contrast / differs

Extension Activity

Create a survey about reality TV.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- With the class, brainstorm all the different types of reality TV.
- With a partner, create a survey about the viewing habits of your classmates in relation to reality TV.
- Find out which shows they prefer and which shows they dislike.
- Take notes explaining their opinions.
- Present your findings to the class.
- Use words of contrast to help make your presentation more descriptive.

Self-Assessment

Yes No

I brainstorm the different types of reality TV.

☐ ☐

I collaborate with a partner and create a survey about the reality TV viewing habits of my classmates.

☐ ☐

I take notes.

☐ ☐

I present my findings using contrastive vocabulary.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- informers (noun): people who report on the activities of others, especially to authorities
e.g. My informers told me you had a busy evening last night.
- apprehensive (adjective): anxious or fearful that something bad or unpleasant will happen
e.g. You had to be an apprehensive little boy who got his feelings hurt.
- level-headed (adjective): calm and sensible e.g. Amy is very rational and level-headed.
- let cooler heads prevail (expression): to take a break from a frustrating situation, revisiting the subject once one is calm e.g. She is more than willing to let cooler heads prevail.
- to escalate (verb): to become more intense e.g. That escalated quickly.
- harassment (noun): aggressive pressure or intimidation
e.g. But, isn't this a form of workplace harassment?

Learning Points

Perfect Modals in the Affirmative and Negative Forms

Perfect modals have the same form as the Present Perfect tense in that they feature the phrase have + past participle.

Let's compare the forms of the Perfect modals in their affirmative and negative forms:

Modal	Affirmative Form	Negative Form	Examples
can't have	none	can't have + past participle	I can't have messed this up. could have	could have + past participle	couldn't have + past participle	I couldn't have left it on the table.
may have	may have + past participle	may not have + past participle	I may have been distracted. might have	might have + past participle	might have + past participle	They might have gotten lost.
must have	must have + past participle	must not have + past participle	She must have forgotten about it.
ought to have	ought to have + past participle	ought not to have + past participle	They ought to have apologized for making a mess. should have	should have + past participle	should not have + past participle ought not to have + past participle	You shouldn't have been so nice.
would have	would have + past participle	would not have + past participle	I wouldn't have told him to go away.

Examples:

- You shouldn't have been so controlling.
- You must not have heard a word I said yesterday.
- You could have just let it go, but noooooo!

Learning Points

- You ought to have listened to me. You can't have messed this up!
- I wouldn't have bought that line. I would have told him to get lost.

Talking About Differences

When you want to make comparisons and identify contrasts in writing and in polite speech, you can use a number of phrases.

You can use the words and phrases: difference, differ, in contrast and unlike.

For example:

One important difference is that women still make less money than men on average.

In contrast to men, women still make less money on average.

The results of the research differ from earlier studies.

Unlike other studies, this one didn't take inflation into account.

Examples:

- One important difference between Amy and other people is that Amy is very rational and level-headed.
- Unlike some people I know.
- In contrast to me, Bill moves rather fast. But, isn't this a form of workplace harassment?
- The important difference is that we would be going together as friends.
- Our opinion of Bill differs greatly.

